Re:

Dear Mr. Bansal:

I am pleased to recommend Citicap Channels for your printing needs. Our experience with them has been quite good. Our project involved a 1200 page book that we wanted to print in both hard cover and perfect bound, so it was a large project. Ramesh Bansal was our contact, and he was with us every step of the way to make sure that we knew how the job was progressing, to assure a quality job, and to answer our questions.

Specifically, the printing and binding are first quality, and we are quite proud of our book. The job was completed within the schedule that we had agreed upon, and the books were delivered to us according to schedule as well. If you are planning a project, be sure to allow several weeks for surface transportation if your project is to be shipped over the water. Because of the bulk of our job, air transport was out of the question.

We were definitely satisfied with the job and are planning more work for Citicap in the future. Please feel free to contact me if you have questions.

Sincerely,

Thomas E. Whitmore
